SENATE GIVES APPROVAL TO DEBT TREATIES

After Brief Debate Latvia, Rumania and Estonia Agreements Are Passed on Washington, April 27. (AP)—With machine-like regularity the senate today puts its stamp of approval on the debt funding agreements negotiated by the American debt commission.

After short debate it first ratified the $5,000,000 debt agreement with Latvia and then, in short order, it approved the $13,820,000 agreement with Estonia and the $41,494,310 settlement with Rumania.

Washington, April 27. (AP)—While the debt negotiations with France and Jugoslavia were in recess today, the senate continued its consideration of the settlements already negotiated and now awaiting ratification.

The agreement with Latvia was taken up as soon as the senate met although opposition senators continued their attacks on the ratification of the debt funding commission, the leaders predicted that the Latvian and other pending agreements would be ratified without much delay, and by even larger majorities than those given the agreements with Italy and Belgium.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, a member of the debt commission, opened the debate for the Latvian settlement, and the bulk of the opposition again was taken by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, who declared the pending agreement not only wasteful, but "ridiculous."

Senator Smoot explained the $5,000,000 Latvian settlement in detail. Taking cognizance of remarks concerning Latvia's payment of her debts to France and Norway, the Utah senator said that both had been paid in depreciated currency. The French debt of 11,811,372 francs was liquidated at a cost of less than $400,000, he said, and the Norwegian indebtedness of 6,381,127 kroner was discharged by paying $700,000.

Pointing out that payments under the American-Latvian settlement were spread out over 42 years, Senator Reed said that in all human probability Latvia would cease to be long before the end of that period.

"Latvia was a province of Russia," he said, "and she will be a people from the sea. Russia will go to the Baltic sea, just as we would go to the Gulf of Mexico if some small and powerless nation held the future of the Gulf of Mexico. You cannot keep 180,000,000 people from the sea. Russia will go to the sea and Latvia will disappear."

Adverting to the Italian settlement Senator Reed asserted that this would be made the basis of a demand by Great Britain for a revision of her debt settlement.

"England has given assurances that she had no objection to any settlement we make with other nations," said Smoot.

"Who gave those assurances?" demanded Reed.

"The responsible head of the British government," he said.

"Yes and his government may fall tomorrow."

The Latvian debt settlement was approved by the senate after a debate of less than an hour and a half.

Ratification was voted 50 to 18. The agreement now goes to President Coolidge, and will come into force when he signs it.

Bathing Suits To Suit Fancies of Bathers, Is Edict of the Censor

Atlantic City, N. J., April 27. (AP)—No set rules governing the style of bathing suits for either men or women will be promulgated this year by Public Safety Director Cuthbert.

"We will allow bathing suits which are accepted at other resorts," he said. "Nakedness of the fig leaf type will be barred but there are to be no set rules this year."

Fifteen beach censors will be named, however, and it will be their duty to see that the costumes and conduct of the bathers are "within reasonable limits."

It has been decided to officially "unlock" the ocean on May 15.

HOPES ARE ABANDONED FOR OVERDUE STEAMER

Newark, N. J., April 27. (AP)—Hope for the freighter Suddeuth, overdue at the Panama canal since March 22, was abandoned today by her owners, the Transmarine corporation of Port Newark.

The ship was in command of Captain T. Turner and carried a crew of twenty-eight.

MEMBERSHIP GAIN OF PTA IS LARGE

Report for National Convention Shows Increase Well Over Four Thousand

The Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations reported 4027 members and 267 new associations were organized and affiliated with the state organization, according to statistics compiled this week by the state executive secretary, Mrs. Steven Chapman. These figures will be used in the Texas report at the annual conference of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers to be held at Atlantic City, May 3-8. Of the 253 counties in Texas, 147 have county extension chairmen. There are 40 county councils and 11 city councils. Last year 1121 clubs were reported, five of which have been dropped because of failure to send dues, or communicate with state officers in response to letters, questionnaires, etc. This leaves with the new associations, 1,223 in good and regular standing. Adding to this number the 40 county councils and the 31 city councils, there is a grand total of 1394 organizations banded together in Texas for the one purpose of promoting child welfare in home, school and state. The total membership amounts to 43,737. This membership, of course, does not begin to indicate the number of men and women who are actually reached by the Parent-Teacher associations in Texas, but represents the number that pay the annual dues of 25 cents required by the Texas branch for membership in the state and national organizations. Many Parent-Teacher associations consider that a child in school entitles the parent to membership even without dues. Others require the 25 cents for state and national dues, not pay dues because of a ship fee of from fifty cents to one dollar, retaining in the local treasury all but the 25 cents sent to state treasurer who pro rates the amount and sends five cents to the national, five cents back to the district and retains fifteen cents in the state treasury. Many parents attend meetings who do not pay dues, but the matter has not been explained to them or the larger amounts are beyond their ability to pay.

ANTLERS IZAAK WALTON CLUB HOLDS FISH-FRY

The club of the Izaak Walton League of America at Antlers, Okla., had its annual fish-fry Tuesday evening at the home of the Klomah river about two miles from Antlers.

The affair was a big event, the purpose being to promote and foster an interest in fish and game protection and preservation. The Antlers club is one of the strongest in the entire country and embraces the entire southeast portion of Oklahoma in its scheme for game preservation by the establishment of a preserve.

There were some state officers at the fish-fry and invited guests from other places, including several from Paris, some of whom availed themselves of the invitation.

The invitations were very unique and in the envelope a printed form of reply of acceptance on a postal card was enclosed for signature which read: "Yes, sir, that's my catch. Save me a good big helping. I'll be there Johnny on the spot at the pavilion on the Klomah on the said date and hour."

YOUNG NEGRO JAIL ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Dol Harmon, a young negro, was arrested Monday night and was lodged in jail on the charge of burglarizing the home of Ben Hayes, a farmer two and a half miles south of town. He is alleged to have stolen a pistol.

After supper Mr. Hayes and family left home and went to Miller and Joyner's store. When they returned they noticed a light in the house as they approached, which appeared to have been made by some person striking matches.

Members of the family surrounded the house and guarded it to keep the burglar from escaping before an officer could arrive.

Constable Walters was telephoned for and John Willie Blard, his former deputy, accompanied him to the farmer's house. When they arrived the burglar had eluded the people guarding him and had slipped through the front door, making his escape.

The farmer suspected that the burglar was a young negro who was working on his farm and gave the officers a description. They returned to town and found him at 11 o'clock at night at the carnival grounds.

On being searched the missing pistol was found in his pocket. He was locked up in the county jail.

ATTENDS DEBATING CONTEST AT COMMERCE

Deputy County Clerk B. A. Davis and wife and Miss Ethel Davis, assistant of Mrs. Davis in teaching at the Adams school, went to Commerce Tuesday night to attend the debate between representatives of the East Texas State Teachers college and the Denton Normal.

Arlando Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, was chosen to represent Commerce in the debate. He and the other Commerce student represented the affirmative.

The subject that was selected was "Resolved, that the United States should enter the world court."

THE FIREMEN ENGAGE IN PRACTICE DRILL

The members of the fire department spent about two hours Tuesday morning drilling with the pumper and hook and ladder trucks on the lot east of the station under the direction of Chief Jodie Moss.

The chief stated that from now on the firemen should practice once a month during the summer season.

The regular practice will greatly enhance their proficiency, the chief stated, and they will have a great deal better opportunity in practice during the summer than in the winter.

HAS GOOSE WITH EGG-LAYING RECORD

Jim Banks, who spent Sunday with his father-in-law, J. W. Whitwell, a Red River county farmer, living three miles east of Detroit, stated that Mr. Whitwell informed him that an old goose on the place has established an egg-laying record.

He said that she had laid 55 eggs in 71 days. She shows no disposition to stop laying long enough to set.

GIVE DOUBLE BIRTHDAY SURPRISE ON SUNDAY

Mrs. Clyde Blackburn of Sylvan and Mrs. Walter King of Reno gave an enjoyable dinner as a double birthday surprise for their husbands at Mrs. King's home on Sunday.

Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. George Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. Annen, Maloney and Miss Theresa Gantt of Paris.

THE COMPRESSION SEASON IS NEARLY WOUND UP

President J. T. Rountree of the Paris Compress and Warehouse company stated Tuesday that the season's business was very near wound up. There are at present 2,500 bales in stock at the compress and about 1,000 more are expected before the plant shuts down.

TICKET SALE FOR MINSTREL STARTS

Final Rehearsals Being Held for Grotto Show at Grand Theater on Monday

Last minute touches are being added for the Grotto minstrel and musical comedy which is to be given at the Grand theater on Thursday night. The reserved seat sale has opened at the Palace Drug store and those having bought tickets may exchange them there for reserved seats.

Final rehearsals are being held for the show every afternoon and evening at the Grotto hall and Director Ming says that everything is being done to prevent the show from being a failure.

When the curtain goes up on "The Jollies of 1926," the Grotto members feel sure that they are offering one of the best shows seen in Paris for a long time.

As announced, the committee in charge of the Grotto minstrel have decided to present the show on Thursday afternoon with a matinee for school children only, the entire show will be given in the afternoon just as it is to be presented at night and a matinee.

However, no one will be admitted except school children.

The matinee is being given in order to take care of the school children who would be unable to come at night on account of their school work.

The afternoon show will start at 4 o'clock, no advance tickets will be sold for this performance but tickets may be purchased at the door.

MAKE PLANS FOR RAIL HEARING NEXT MONTH

A meeting of Paris citizens interested in rail transportation problems of this section was held yesterday morning at the chamber of commerce building. This meeting was held under auspices of the transportation committee of the chamber of commerce of which James D. Gray is chairman.

The session was preliminary to a general conference to be held in Paris on May 20, this date having been changed at yesterday's meeting from May 11 to better suit convenience of Tulsa representatives.

Other cities which will be represented are Dallas and Longview, together with the East Texas chamber of commerce.

It was suggested by those present that at this time the future welfare of Paris may be served by a study of the changes taking place by railroad consolidation and that better rail connections with Southern Oklahoma and Eastern Texas will be greatly beneficial to Paris by opening up new territory and developing the channels of trade as well as affording many industrial advantages.

The conference Tuesday considered many angles of transportation problems. It is planned to have a similar project to suggest to representatives from Tulsa, Dallas and Longview when the general conference is held.

BOY SCOUTS PLAN NEW ACTIVITIES FOR WEEK

Boy Scout troops have planned various outings and activities for the week, according to announcement made by Executive Frank Fuller.

Scoutmaster Albert Chwening is out of the city, and the meeting of Troop 2 will be announced later.

Troops 3 and 4 will have a ball game Thursday afternoon at the Lamar fair grounds at 4 o'clock.

Members of Troop 10, who have paid their 1926 registration fees will have a fishing trip to the city lake this week.

Troop 3 will play the baseball team of the Detroit high school Friday afternoon.

Troop 6 will leave the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock for an overnight trip to the river.

Troop 7 will have a business meeting Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

Members of Troop 11 are planning a big fishing trip to Lake Creek on Saturday afternoon.

Troops 5, 8 and 9 are planning week end stunts to be announced later.

MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT MAY COST EYESIGHT

S. J. Dixon, of Elmo, Kaufman county, about 50 years old, who was on his way to Oklahoma sustained serious injury 11 miles south of Paris Sunday night in a motorcycle accident.

At Commerce he met E. H. Disheroon of Ranger, who was coming to Paris. The latter offered him a seat on his motorcycle which he accepted and at a point where the accident occurred the owner of the motorcycle turned to go around some obstacle.

In making the turn both riders were thrown off and when the machine fell on them the handlebar struck Dixon in the eye.

The handlebar broke Dixon's glasses and jabbed him in the eye. He was brought to the city and taken to a specialist's office. It was thought he might probably lose the sight of the eye.

AN INCIPIENT BLAZE AT GROCERY STORE

An incipient fire occurred at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at Tindall's grocery store, the corner of Church street and Lafayette avenue. A carton of matches in a shelf in the back part of the store in some way became ignited.

Some person passing discovered the blaze and turned in at alarm. The firemen arrived promptly and had to break open a side door to get inside.

The blaze was put out with chemicals. The damage was very slight, being confined to several packages of groceries.

Home Benefit Pays First

MRS. M. A. GRAY'S CHECK ISSUED DAY AFTER FUNERAL
Delta County Claim

Mrs. Gray was buried on Sunday and the Home Benefit Association was notified by phone the following day. The check for $1,000.00 was executed same day notice was received.

The Home Benefit Association furnished $1,000.00 worth of life insurance last year at a total cost of $7.40. To older folks, those above 55, they furnished $500.00 worth of life insurance at a total cost of $7.40. For the children they furnished a $500.00 policy at a total cost of $2.00.

Those who are not policy holders should communicate with the office over the Lamar State bank. Those who have only one policy should inquire about more insurance, as the Home Benefit Association can issue three policies upon one life.

The following letter is evidence of the splendid service the Home Benefit Association of Paris, Texas, gives to its policy holders.

Mr. W. C. Francis, Sec. Treas. Home Benefit Association, "A Local Mutual Aid" Paris, Texas.

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge receipt of your check for $1,000.00 in full payment of policy in Group No. 2 upon the life of my wife, Mrs. Mahal A. Gray, policy No. 1083.

My wife was buried on April 18th, 1926, and you were notified by a friend the following day and check was issued same day you were notified. With deep thanks to your representative who came in person to my home and delivered to me a deposit slip for $1,000.00 and attended to the securing of all papers.

I had paid out for this policy was only $11.10. My wife carried other insurance but the Home Benefit was the first insurance paid and I could take care of all expenses of my wife's death almost immediately.

The fact that the Home office of the Home Benefit Association is located in a few hours drive from Cooper is certainly an advantage to the policy holders in the section. In most cases the Home office is located a considerable distance from this section and it requires in most cases two months to secure final payment of insurance.

I certainly recommend your company in the highest terms because I believe that you offer less for your insurance than any other company and pay claims quicker.

Yours truly,
J. M. Gray,
Beneficiary.

(Signed) J. M. Gray, Beneficiary.

Attention Members Group No. 2 Collection is now being made for May dues of $1.00 and Assessment No. 5 on account of above death of $1.10. Both amounts should be paid on or before May 1st.

This Group No. 2 policy is a thousand dollar piece of property and should not be trifled with. See that your payments are always made promptly. It is dangerous to wait until the last day. Ask us to collect your dues and assessments from your bank. This is the safest way to prevent your from letting your policy lapse by oversight. It relieves you of any attention to payments whatever.

J. S. Baker, President.
J. M. Hooks, Medical Director.
Tom L. Beauchamp, Attorney.

TROOP SEVEN OF BOY SCOUTS REORGANIZES

Troop 7 of the Boy Scouts reorganized on Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, with 11 boys present, W. J. Vacca and Albo Abernathy to serve as scoutmasters for the new outfit.

A special business meeting has been called for Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce and all members have been urged to bring along a boy eligible for Scout membership in the troop.

The boys present included Eugene Belew, Jesse Bailey, Joe Chapman, plain, Eugene Pulks, Eldridge Ford, Audrey Grimes, Charles Kistenmacher, Coleman Reeves, Walter Reecer, Irwin Shannon, and Allen Shaeffer.

FORMER PARISIANS HAVE GOOD OIL PROSPECTS

Word has been received from Coleman that two former residents of Paris, J. W. Gardner and W. B. Maples, have been fortunate in oil land investments ten miles north-east of that place.

They went to Coleman county two years ago and bought a farm of 250 acres. Recently oil prospectors leased land adjoining their farm and brought in four wells that produced from 200 to 400 barrels of oil a day.

After bringing in these wells they secured oil leases on Gardner and Maples' farm and on Monday brought in the first well on it.

The well is estimated to produce 700 barrels a day.

Mr. Gardner formerly ran a gin in Paris and Mr. Maples, who is in Paris in law, was a barber here for several years. Mr. Gardner is also the father-in-law of L. L. Hagood of Paris.

New York, April 27, (AP)—Futures weather conditions to become generally favorable in the cloth market seemed responsible aging reports from the British South, together with more encouragement for steadiness in the cotton market today. No general aggressive buying was reported but offerings were light.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 2 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and an unfavorable view of the weather outlook. Circulation of Hay notices estimated at about 4,000 bales, brought out some liquidation, which was absorbed by covering or trade buying. Comparatively small offerings of later deliveries seemed to make very little impression on the market.

The presence of a low barometer over Arizona caused nervousness in connection with the forecast for colder weather with frost in some western belt sections tonight and an outlook for showers in Texas which some thought might turn into rains should the area of low pressure become stronger.

Private cables received from Liverpool this morning said there was a better business in the Lancashire cloth market and attributed the advance in cotton to trade calling.

New Orleans, April 27, (AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today. After a slightly irregular opening, prices gradually improved owing to map indications of a possible return of rains in the West but mainly to fears that the weekly weather report due at the opening tomorrow may prove bullish as the first half of the period to be covered was characterized by bad weather.

Later in the day there was considerable talk of extensive re-planting in the central belt. At the high of the afternoon prices showed gains of 11 to 16 points above the previous close.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, April 27, (AP)—A likelihood of frost tonight in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and South Dakota did a good deal to make the wheat prices average higher today. At times, too, a dry weather scare appeared to be developing. Closing prices, however, on wheat were irregular at 5-8 cent net decline to 1 cent advance. May, new $1.63 7-8 to $1.64, July $1.43 33-8 to 1.43 1-2. Corn finished 1-4 cent off to 3-8 cent up.

It was chiefly a professional traders market today in wheat.

with fluctuations numerous and covering a range of 3 1-4 cents. Relative weakness near the end of the day was apparently due to the efforts which early buyers attempted to realize profits in the face of a let-up in demand.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York, April 27, (AP)—Stocks steady; bonds irregular, cotton advanced, trade buying; sugar easy, commission house selling; coffee lower, liquidation.

Chicago, Wheat barely steady, favorable crop advices; corn steady on light receipts; cattle irregular, hogs lower, packers inactive.

Port Worth Livestock
Port Worth, April 27, (AP)—Fairly enough steer cattle were here today to make an impression on the market. Trend was slow with the appearance of being steady.

Beef and better class butcher cows around 10 to 15 cents lower, other steers steady. Calves took advance of 50 cents on aggressive buying by shippers. Bulls strong.

and heifers and yearlings nondescript. Small drafts medium heifers and yearlings available at 15.25 to 17.75. Car lots later at $6.15 and $8.75.

Calves advanced on sharp competition from shippers, light veals at $9.00 to $9.50; heavy calves $7.50 to $8.

Seven cars hogs 10 to 15 cents lower; top made by a shipper at $13.

WAIVES EXAMINING TRIAL IN TWO CASES

Bill Etheridge, one of the four young men recently arrested in connection with a series of burglaries in different sections of the city, waived preliminary examination Tuesday on two charges of burglary before Justice of the Peace J. L. Shanklin and the bond was placed at $500 in each case.

HOSPITAL LINENS AND BLANKETS FROM CADDELL

Linens and bed clothing were delivered Tuesday by the Arthur Caddehl company to the new county hospital, scheduled to open about May 1.

The supplies include all the blankets, sheets, towels and other linen necessary for hospital use, and the amount purchased will equip the new building completely in this respect.

The articles are of excellent quality, and it is a noteworthy fact that like most of the other furnishings they were purchased from a local firm.

Hagood's Condition Improved
L. L. Hagood received word from Cooper Tuesday that his father, J. M. Hagood, a well known banker and farmer, who has been ill for several days with pneumonia, is very much improved.

If you know the baker of the bread you buy, or depend on the name on the wrapper—you know the bread is wholesome, with the fresh flavor you like. If you don't know the baker or name on the wrapper, yet buy that bread, you take a chance. Bread costs only a few cents. You can afford that chance.

Yet suppose instead of bread, it's an expensive watch. Or suppose instead of something that must taste good to be good, it's a medicine that must be pure in a way you can't taste—or else do actual harm. You'd want to be sure about that watch. You'd have to be sure about that medicine.

There's one way to be sure. Buy only the widely advertised. Whatever is thrown open to unlimited public test is safe for you to use the way it is recommended for you to use. Names you can depend upon stand behind it. Thousands are finding those names dependable and their products strictly true. That's how they continue to be put on printed pages before you. EVANGELICAL MEET

WILL CLOSE TODAY

Three Day Session at Central Presbyterian to End with Special Addresses

Two addresses by Dr. William F. Klein, director of evangelism for the Presbyterian Board of Missions will be features of the closing sessions of the evangelical conference at the Central Presbyterian church today. "The Whole Task of the Church," at 2:15 and an evangelistic sermon at 7:30, are heralded by those who have heard them on previous occasions as unsurpassed evangelical discourses, and the public is invited to attend the afternoon and evening sessions in order to hear Dr. Klein.

The registration at the conference Tuesday numbered over 100, and the ladies of the church served both lunch and an informal dinner to the delegates in the basement of the church.

Rev. Mr. Willbanks of Texas, who gave the morning devotion, and Dr. Harvey Klier, who left for Dallas during the afternoon, conducted his second session in personal work.

Young people's work and the importance of interesting them in the work of the presbytery was stressed during the entire day's program.

This is the full program for the closing sessions of the meeting today:

9:00. Morning Session.—J. F. Fendler, D. D.

9:15. Fourth Study in Personal Work.—Dr. Klein.

4:00. "The Man Who Is Not Ashamed"—Dr. Humphreys.

Evening

6:45. Praise and devotion meeting.

7:30. Evangelistic service and sermon.—Dr. Klein.

ABOUT PARIS

Pipe is being unloaded for a water line from Washington street to the Texas Midland roundhouse. The city is doing the work but the railroad company will defray the expense. The laying of the line is for the purpose of doing away with the old water main, which has rotted away. Instead of getting water from the tower the railroad will get direct pressure when the line is laid.

The firemen had a still alarm at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning for a slight blaze on Grand avenue. The blaze was caused by a barrel of tar that had been used in putting roofing on a building. The barrel had been heated and the tar had become so hot that it had leaked out and caught fire. The firemen had a still alarm at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning for a slight blaze on Grand avenue. DEATHS

Mrs. Pearl Cogburn, whose husband is employed at the boys' dance plant on North Main street, died Monday night at St. Joseph's infirmary. She was 35 years old and is survived by her husband and five children. The family formerly lived in Arkansas. They came to Paris about five years ago.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. W. M. Wright.

TUESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN DISTRICT COURT

In the district court Tuesday J. M. Armond pleaded guilty to passing a forged instrument for $1. The jury gave him five years suspended sentence.

E. B. Pendergast, charged with selling liquor, pleaded not guilty and most of the day was spent in jury deliberations. It went to the jury at 5 o'clock, but no verdict had been returned late last night.

After the Burns case went to the jury the case of Lota Blankenship, charged with burglary, was taken up.

Both sides announced ready, but as the regular jurors were tied up in the Burns case the court directed the sheriff to summon twelve special jurors, to report at 3 o'clock this morning.

FRENCH SEEK MERELY TO REINSTATE GUARDIANSHIP

Paris, April 27. (AP)—The French government seeks merely to reestablish its guardianship of Syria and not impose government on the mandated territory. Minister of War, Painleve today told the senate in answer to an interpellation.

As soon as military operations in Syria, in the course of which Suedia was recaptured, are ended he said, the French government will agree to parliamentary control in the territory. The government, he added, would spare nothing to restore its guardianship.

"It is only because of the most extreme need and momentary necessity that we are now resorting to force," the war minister asserted.

Things Serious and Foolish In the Capitals of Europe

London, April 19. (AP)—The London social season, now nearing its close, had been remarkable for the popularity of dancing and for the new innovations in dance floors and lighting effects, which the dance vogue have introduced into the most select private homes of Mayfair. This is in part a result of the competition of fashionable night clubs, which hostesses have found they must install such a floor, in order to keep their guests filled.

The glass dance floor is the most popular novelty, and these have been laid in the ballrooms of many fashionable residences. The glass is treated so it will not be too slippery. Lights are placed under the glass and the whole floor is laid on a thick white rubber cushion to give the desired resiliency.

Mrs. Arthur J. Stanton of New York is one of the American "dancers" to install such a floor.

Another new effect is provided by installations outside private ballroom windows, from which lights of many colors may be used. The effect is very pleasing. Miss Mary Boden, the novelist, has a steel floor in her ballroom which reflects light with the brilliance of a mirror. A pneumatic dance floor is being laid at the Savoy hotel to give guests the experience of "dancing on air."

Floors laid on springs are passing out. What is sought now is a smooth, firmly laid floor, suitable to the slow movements of the waltz and tango and eliminating the "shimmy" effect which has been in vogue.

A visit to Ireland in 1927 is known to be on the program of the prince of Wales. Irishmen who met the prince in London, St. Patrick's day celebrations have confirmed rumors to this effect.

The prince has been invited to Ulster for an official visit next year. He is understood to be anxious to visit and to visit to southern Ireland, mainly for reasons of sport.

While there is believed to be an chance of his making a visit to the Free State, it is expected an official journey there may be arranged. The prince is personally popular in southern Ireland, but responsible quarters feel the time has not arrived when a formal visit would be free from embarrassment and even possible danger.

Those who have been concerned over placing of the honor of having first conceived the idea of the league of nations have been astonished by the suggestion of Prof. H. A. Giles of Cambridge, noted student of the culture and history of China, that China made an attempt to create such a league 546 years before Christ.

That is now China was then divided into a number of separate independent states, several of which were larger than France or Germany of today. A covenant was actually signed by representatives of various states, with a view to putting an end to war. But the two states held out and the league failed to come into existence. Three hundred years later, the states were brought together by warlike methods under the Chin dynasty.

A flutter of excitement in high London society has been caused by the announcement that King George and Queen Mary are to give a state party at Windsor some time this spring. There has been much speculation as to who has been invited, but there has not even been an inkling as to who will be there besides the prince of Wales. However, it is probable that the duke of Connaught, the king's uncle, will be included if he returns in time from the Riviera, where he spent the winter.

Guests at the royal house parties may include the prince generally, play tennis, golf, ride horseback or play bridge—but the king reserves the mornings to himself, most of the afternoon and it is seldom that the visitors see his majesty after 5 o'clock in the evening. The guests of the queen, as she often sits about and sews with the feminine guests or plays cards.

An original note for women's wear this season is the "unattached sleeve" worn with the latest evening frocks. These "sleeveless" frocks have a pair of separate sleeves supplied by the dressmaker, but the sleeves do not cover the arms. Usually they are "tucked" on somewhere about or below the elbows, leaving the upper arms bare.

Frequently the unattached sleeves are of the same material as the dress, but often they are made to create vivid and decorative contrasts.

Paris, (AP)—The flow of population from the country districts of France to the cities continue, despite all the efforts of the government to stem it. The general census just taken shows a declining population in the rural areas except those adjacent to large industrial centers.

The wine growing regions are particularly hard hit by the movement toward the cities. Although the population of France is slightly greater than before the war, the industrial expansion favored by the depreciated currency creates a constantly growing demand for labor, absorbing even a large part of the foreign workers, especially imported through the ministry of labor for work on the land.

Gabriel Astruc, who has been making a calculation of how many real music lovers there are in Paris, reaches the conclusion that they do not exceed 12,000, which for a population of 4,000,000, he considers distinctly slender. M. Astruc speaks with authority for twenty years ago he devoted all his energy and much American capital to providing Paris with a "temple of music." The temple is still visible—just off the Champs Elysees—and for the first time in its existence, is fully every night, but that is due to its becoming a vaudeville theater.

He arrives at this total by estimating there are 7000 frequenters of Sunday orchestral concerts and 5000 who attend matinees of the opera and opera comique.

M. Astruc realizes that when he told Chamille Chavard, then conductor of the Lamoureux concert, of his intention to build his temple of music for Paris, the expert merely said, "are you sure that there is a love for music in Paris?"

The Monte Carlo "transformation costume," which may be changed in a minute or two, according to the occasion, from a street suit into a tea or garden party dress is the latest invention of the Paris dressmakers.

The "transformation" ensemble consists of a coat, a skirt and a frock. The frock is made of crepe Billis in a dainty shade and is perfectly suitable for dinner wear in the city. The skirt and cape are carried out in English tweed, the skirt being buttoned over the dress, only the blouse of which then shows and which on the arm is half covered by the tweed cape.

The wearer starts out on her shopping tour appearing soberly dressed in a tweed ensemble with a silk crepe blouse. As dinner time approaches, however, she goes to meet her friends at the restaurant or hotel and simply takes off both her skirt and cape to appear smartly dressed in her light dinner frock.

Berlin, (AP)—An international theatrical convention, with fourteen nations represented, including the United States, France, Great Britain and Germany, will be held in Berlin in June. This was announced by Gustav Rickelt, president of the German Actors' Alliance at a recent luncheon in honor of James K. Hackett, hailed as the dean of American actors, given by the American Luncheon club of Berlin.

The object of the convention will be to establish permanent machinery for co-operation between the theatrical profession of all countries. The meeting will consider the plan of Fernin Genier, the noted producer of Paris, who proposes an international season every two years, with international casts touring the principal cities of the world. These troupes would carry with them specially constructed portable theaters, which M. Genier says would be necessary to provide perfect acoustics in all places.

Mr. Hackett, however, expressed the belief that the portable theater would not be necessary in the United States, where there are plenty of play houses whose acoustics are the best that can be provided.

TOO MUCH MONEY

Paris, (AP)—The flow of population from the country districts of France to the cities continue, despite all the efforts of the government to stem it. The general census just taken shows a declining population in the rural areas except those adjacent to large industrial centers.

The wine growing regions are particularly hard hit by the movement toward the cities. He arrives at this total by estimating there are 7000 frequenters of Sunday orchestral concerts and 5000 who attend matinees of the opera and opera comique.

The continuing devotion with which generations of the German people have worshipped Queen Louise, wife of King Friedrich Wilhelm III of Prussia is reflected in the numerous floral tributes banked high about her monument in the Tiergarten on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of her birth.

Among the flowers and wreaths were dozens of poetic tributes painstakingly written in pencil on notepaper or cardboard. One verse lamented "the depths to which your Germany has sunk."

It urged the youth to rise and throw off the "crown of thorns"—the Versailles treaty and the Dawes plan—which has been placed on the country's once proud head.

Queen Louise was regarded as the most beautiful and charming woman of her time. Though history tells but little of her, she endeared herself to her people as few women in German history.

It is recalled that during the world war and inflation period, thousands of persons turned poor by enough to eat filled past her monument at anniversary time, each depositing only a few wild flowers, until the greens were blanketed with blossoms.

The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the celebration of the Wagnerian summer festivals will take place the last week in July at Weimar, once the cultural center of Germany.

Though the festival usually is given at Bayreuth, the home of the composer's widow, Cosima Wagner, the anniversary festival has been moved to Weimar by mutual consent. In addition to a series of Wagner concerts, two operas of Siegfried Wagner, the son, will be given.

Weimar was the home of Goethe, the Schiller and Franz Liszt, Wagner's father-in-law. Wagner also lived there for many years.

Coblentz, the Rhine city occupied by American troops after the armistice, has decided that the German spelling of the city's name should be with "K" and not with "C." It cost several thousand dollars to find historical basis for the change.

The decision is expected to cause a controversy extending back several centuries. Experts ensnared by the city delved into records dating back to the twelfth century and found that Prince Bauwin, one of the city founders, spelled it Koblenz.

Concrete streets have a pleasing light gray color

Brady Meets Its Paving Problem with Concrete

Brady, the County Seat of McCulloch County, worried along for awhile with dusty, bumpy streets in the business district. But one day some of its business men stopped to figure what unpaved streets were costing them. They found it would be a profitable investment to pave the public square—and pave it right. They demanded a pavement that would stand present traffic, yet not require costly maintenance. The problem was solved by selecting portland cement concrete.

The concrete mixer had been running only a few days when extensions were made to the initial project. Now Brady has 26,000 square yards of concrete paving; and like other Texas cities they will not be willing to stop until all the main streets are permanently paved.

How about the Public Square or Main Street in your town? You can have a pavement that is rigid, unyielding, skidproof—one that will carry any kind of traffic indefinitely, practically without repairs. Concrete paving has these qualities. These are but a few of many reasons for its rapidly growing popularity.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

WISE AND LAMAR COUNTIES

ACCORDING to reliable statistics Decatur, Wise county, Texas, is the largest shipper of dairy products in the Southwest, which area includes Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. The same statistics indicate that Decatur is the home of the largest whole-milk shipping station in the South.

Now, Decatur is a snug little city of some 2,500 population and Wise county has a population outside of Decatur of about 20,000 and an area of some 843 square miles. It is estimated that the farmers in the trade territory of Decatur received last year for their dairy products a total of about $150,000.

Decatur is not dependent altogether on dairying for its support. The farmers of Wise county produce about 20,000 bales of cotton every year.
They grow and ship large quantities of vegetables, peaches, apples, grapes, apricots, pears, and plums, as well as considerable wheat. Statistics also show that Wise county has developed the poultry industry in equal, if not in larger, proportions to the dairying industry.

Wise county is not so richly endowed by nature as is Lamar county. Much of her land is hilly and rocky and fit only for grazing. She has some rich valley lands but their area is a small part of the total area of the county. Lamar county has large areas of as rich land, upland and bottom land, as may be found anywhere in America.
She has practically no waste lands, as all her soils —upland and bottom land, blackland and sandy land—are not only tillable but either are or by right treatment can be made highly productive.
The rainfall also is much more favorable.

Practically all of Decatur's milk product is shipped as whole-milk to Dallas but Wise county farmers, without a local consuming plant, find dairying, with their market in Dallas, highly profitable and the industry is steadily growing.
It is estimated that they will ship in the neighborhood of 1,500,000 gallons of milk this year.

Paris needs some kind of milk products manufacturing plant. The first need is of a plant that will furnish a sure market for the milk being produced now and the increase that will develop, with such a market, in the next two or three years.
Given such a market and such a development
Lamar county will in a few months—in a year or two at most—be in a position to go after a really big dairying industry enterprise, such as a condensery.

Any given section of country engaged largely in dairying is a prosperous section. Go East, West, North, or South and you will find it so. The biggest single thing that can be done for Lamar county within the next five years is to make it a dairying section.

An American financier estimates that Great Britain pays $97.12 per head in taxation per annum. This may or may not be quite accurate, but at least he is correct in reckoning in dollars.—

WHAT OTHERS SAY

WHY AN EAST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

From Progressive Farmer:

ON Friday, March 5, representatives from twelve East Texas counties met at Longview, Gregg county, for the purpose of discussing the organization of an East Texas Chamber of Commerce. It was the consensus of opinion of everyone assembled at this meeting that an East Texas Chamber of Commerce should be organized in the immediate future. We are of the same opinion based on the following observations: First, the agricultural problems of East Texas are practically identical.
East Texas has unlimited possibilities for agricultural development, provided a systematic program is worked out on territorial rather than a county basis.

Profitable vegetable production in East Texas is the order of the day. However, no systematic effort has been made to standardize any particular vegetable or vegetables and market them as a standardized product. East Texas has the opportunity of supplying a great quantity of the sweet potatoes and ribbon cane syrup that are consumed in Northern markets, provided a systematic method of production and sale of these articles is worked out.

An East Texas Chamber of Commerce could render valuable service along each of these lines.

The pine forests of East Texas are becoming rapidly depleted of timber of commercial value.
Twenty-five years in the future, if the present system of harvesting timber is pursued, will find East Texas shipping in a large per cent of the lumber needed for home building. Instead of $35 to $50 for lumber, our folks will be paying from $75 to $125. Reforestation is a major problem in East Texas. Proper legislation should be had to protect the acres that should be placed in a reforestation program. An East Texas Chamber of Commerce would be a valuable asset in mapping out a really constructive program in reforestation and in getting the proper legislative restrictions placed about the acres that go into this project.

The people who live in East Texas need to be thoroughly "sold" on the country in which they live. An East Texas Chamber of Commerce could render very valuable service in bringing to the attention of the farmers of East Texas the possibilities of their soil as compared to the possibilities of the soils elsewhere. When figured on a per acre value, in relation to their per acre production, a great bulk of the East Texas soil will compare favorably with the soils of more favored sections.

Heretofore East Texas has been considered by most people as a poor man's paradise. For this reason she has not had her just share of the thrifty immigrants from the Central-Western states that have made Texas their home during the last ten years. An East Texas Chamber of Commerce could render valuable service to the section in carrying on a propaganda campaign through out that section of the country, informing prospective home-seekers of just what East Texas has to offer a man who is willing to work and who is willing to use his brain as well as his brawn.

We predict that if the business men of East Texas really organize a chamber of commerce on the scale in which it should be organized, with not less than $75,000 guaranteed budget per annum over a five-year period, with a secretary-manager who is thoroughly "sold" on East Texas possibilities, who is thoroughly acquainted with the agricultural conditions of that section, who is capable of making big plans and executing them systematically, that there will be a general awakening in the prosperity of East Texas during the next ten years.

The Progressive Farmer wishes for the prospective organization the success which it deserves.
For that section of the state the recognition which rightly belongs to it, and a continuation of the era of prosperity which it has beautifully enjoyed during the year which has just closed.

"PERSONAL LIBERTY IN THE U. S. BEING STEADILY LESSENNED"

Says Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Md., in a Recent Speech.

SUMPTUARY laws restricting personal freedom cannot be enforced without social sanction and hence must fail.

The political philosophy of the American government rests on three principals—a representative system, local self-government and immunities. These principles must forever be kept in mind. Our liberties are not based upon kindness of our government but on constitutional guarantees against governmental power.

On the basis of these we erected a system of constitutional law representing the farthest advance for liberty known to history. This philosophy was preserved for over a century.

The last fifteen years have witnessed a great change. The Twentieth Constitutional Amendment has been submitted. In the past ten years four new ones have been handed to the people, and the new political conception of law made its appearance.

Draws Comparison

Contrast the last fifteen years with the years during which this country grew. The four amendments to the Constitution are in derogation of freedom of States and people, income taxes; before the passage of this amendment there was no direct taxation without appointment. Now an unlimited power has been given the Government to take property and earnings.

The Seventeenth Amendment. Nothing more than a mandate from the Federal Government that the people of the states must elect representatives as instructed.

The Prohibition Amendment. A police power, not in derogation of liberty but in restriction of it.

The Nineteenth Amendment. Federal mandate to States that woman must vote.

The Twentieth Amendment. Instructions to mothers and children regarding their children.

What do these advocates want to do? If they can't get what they want from the State, they would take all power away from the State and give it to the Federal Government. The result is that all these laws restricting the personal freedom of man cannot be enforced. Society must approve of them first and the appeal must be answered by the will to obey. This requires education and persuasion. You cannot substitute legislative mandate for that.

What is needed now is a brand new political conception or a return to the integrity of the old one; return to local self-government, the end of standardization and the cessation of utilizing constitutional powers as a means of attaining unconstitutional ends.

Stop the growing bureaucracy with its mounting cost, red tape and extravagance. Settle home affairs at home instead of in remote Washington. Stop multiplicity of laws which don't help us to be law-abiding. Establish principle above expediency once more in party councils and with these things as a living, fighting creed return to the integrity and purity of American institutions.

Germany Honors Hindenburg for Sixty Years of Service

That President Von Hindenburg is a popular idol in Germany at this time is indicated by this photo. It shows the former war lord (indicated by cross) arriving at the Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, to review the national militia as part of the celebration staged in honor of the sixtieth anniversary of his entry into the military service.

ANDREW AND IMOGENE

By Roe Fulkerson

"I have something interesting here," announced Andrew. "It is the Army Alpha Intelligence Test. I took it in the office today. It is a lot of fun. I have the book and the blank. I thought you would like to take it."

"I'll do nothing of the kind," cried Imogene indignantly. "If you think I am a fool, why don't you just come right out and say so without hinting around about it?"

"Why, honey, I never thought of such a thing!" protested Andrew. "I thought you would find it fun. I did."

"If you do not know how much sense I have now, there is no use getting a lot of old luscious asinine blanks for me to fill out. What are you going to do with them?"

"My dear child, nothing except have you try them. I am not curious about them after you have tried them. They are a lot of fun. Start it and then quit if you like."

"See that first page? It is test one. See the five little circles? All you have to do when I say 'go' is to make a figure 1 in the first circle and a cross in the third circle. 'Go!'"

"Phoo!" Imogene filled in the blank as directed. "This is silly."

"Look at the next test. There are 9 circles with numbers in them. When I say 'go' draw a line from circle 2 to circle 6 which will pass above circle 4 and below circle 5. 'Go!'"

"Over circle 3 to circle 6 was it to go over circle 4 or under circle 4?" asked Imogene, with pencil poised.

"That's a part of the test," explained Andrew. "You had five seconds to do that one. The time is up. You missed, so we will take up the next one."

"We will do nothing of the sort!" cried Imogene. "You did not tell me I only had five seconds and besides, I forgot, so I am not fair. I am not going to do any more."

She put down her pencil.

"Oh, very well," answered Andrew. "We will just consider that" you did that one right and go on. In test 3 you will find a triangle superimposed on a square. When I say 'go' make a figure 1 in the space which is in the triangle but not in the square and also make a cross in the square which is in the triangle and in the square. 'Go!'"

"Read that over again," said Imogene. "You got me all confused."

"But that is the test," exclaimed Andrew. "You must get it the first time. I must not read it over again."

"I am not going to do any more," announced Imogene positively. "You read a thing that is all mixed up, and when I want you to read it again you refuse to do it. How can I put silly little marks in a foolish little book when you told me to put them? How could anyone do it?"

"Where did you get it?" asked Imogene. "We will pass that one. I will read the next one more slowly. In test 4 you will find three overlapping figures, a triangle, square and a circle. When I say 'go' draw a line from circle 1 to circle 5 which will make a figure 1 in the space which is in the square but not in the circle or the triangle but not in the square. 'Go!'"

"Where did you get it?" asked Imogene. "We will pass that one. I will read the next one more slowly. In test 4 you will find three overlapping figures, a triangle, square and a circle. When I say 'go' draw a line from circle 1 to circle 5 which will make a figure 1 in the space which is in the square but not in the circle or the triangle but not in the square. 'Go!'"

"You give me that book and I can do it too. What do I know about putting little foolish dots in funny places? Whoever says to put little crosses on things like that? Why should that be any indication of anyone's intelligence? You can't fool me, Andrew. That thing was intended to deceive people and to get them mixed up so they could not do it. Intelligence test indeed! I have more sense than to fool with such things!"

WHO'S WHO

IN THE DAYS NEWS

Daniel F. Steck

For the first time since the civil war, Iowa has a democratic United States senator, Daniel F. Steck. This is doubly interesting in view of the fact that Steck won his seat in 1924, the year of the republican landslide.

However, he was not seated until recently when he decided he had defeated Smith Brookhart, had 15,000 votes.

Almost up to the last day for filing primary declarations in Iowa, democrats fearing an overwhelming victory for the fiery Brookhart, had not decided upon a candidate.

On the evening of the last day at an informal caucus of party leaders Daniel F. Steck, a world war veteran, was chosen to make the race.

Steck's chance for victory prefigured itself when thousands of republicans withdrew their support from Brookhart after his speech denouncing Coolidge.

As soon as he was nominated Steck traveled night and day, often making as many as 10 speeches a day.

He was born at Ottumwa, Iowa, December 18, 1881. After being graduated from the law college of the State University in 1906 he opened an office in Ottumwa and has practiced there up to the present time except for two years while he was a soldier.

His father, A. C. Steck, was one of the most important democrats in Iowa for years.

When the war broke out Steck, although above the draft limit, enlisted in the National Guard, later organizing by order of the governor a signal corps company which was called into active service in June, 1917.

He is a charter member of the American Legion post at Ottumwa and has held several offices in the organization.

Although the presidential primaries are many months away, George L. Berry, of Rogersville, Tenn., president of the International Pressmen's union, has announced his intention of seeking the democratic nomination.

His friends, including members of the American Federation of Labor, hope to put him forward in every state as a candidate for vice president in 1928.

Since a number of states require the delegates to vote for the man receiving the largest number of votes at the primaries and since there seldom is a vice presidential candidate entered in the primary race, Berry's backers are counting on a great number of delegates with very little effort expended.

Berry came very close to the nomination in 1924 and it took considerable adroit political maneuvering to swing the delegates to Governor Bryan of Nebraska.

In the coming campaign although Berry has not at present the official backing of organized labor he may succeed in obtaining it.

He held a major's rank in the world war and possesses the Distinguished Service Medal. He was at one time vice commander of the American Legion.

Political observers say they do not recall another time when a man has openly sought the vice presidential nomination. Usually an aspirant makes a show of seeking the presidential nomination, then "compromising" on the vice presidency.

Former Commissioner of Health

Energy Ebbs With the Stream of Life

Low blood pressure is a subject concerning which I have a good many letters. Everybody seems to have a pretty good idea of what high blood pressure means and of its causes. But low blood pressure is another matter.

Low blood pressure, lack of energy, headache, depressed spirits, and coldness of hands and feet are among the common symptoms accompanying low blood pressure. You can't feel well if your pressure is down.

Persons who habitually drink alcoholic beverages are stimulated and alert only when they have absorbed a certain quantity of liquor. Let such persons go without their daily nip and they become like dummies. They are down and out. When the blood pressure is very low from any cause, the effect is much the same as the deprivation of alcohol is to these persons. There is no incentive to work or to move.

Anything which dilates the blood vessels so that the blood is less confined will lower the pressure. Likewise, dilation of the heart will do the same thing.

A weak and ineffectual heart muscle will permit the pressure of the blood in the heart to gradually dilate that organ. Then it is no longer capable of forcing the blood through the blood vessels and holding it under pressure. Consequently the blood pressure is below normal.

I am explaining the low blood pressure symptom in the simplest possible terms. It really isn't quite as scientific an explanation as the subject deserves, but after all it is complete enough to make clear why the symptom appears.

The weakness and softness of the heart are usually the result of some severe illness—diphtheria, typhoid fever, scarlet fever and any other of the infectious diseases. Overwork, loss of sleep, poor and unhealthful food, heavy and continued lifting labor are among the causes for a dilated heart.

It takes a lot of good sense and self-denial to overcome low blood pressure. It takes a long time to accomplish it.

I suppose a really perfect heart would never give in to this condition. But when once acquired, it is not easy to overcome it.

High blood pressure can be conquered by a change in the habits, but low pressure demands medical advice. It is not likely that hygienic methods alone will be sufficient. A heart once wisely selected will be necessary.

I have no doubt the present-day methods of ordering our lives have a lot to do with the prevalence of heart disturbances. It is better to live right and thus prevent the development of heart trouble, than to spend a year or two in getting out of it.

I am confident, however, that most cases of low pressure can be traced to remediable causes or, at least, to improvable ones.

PENNY AMERICAN SPENDS FENNY A DAY CONFECTIONS

Chicago. — A penny a day comes from the pocket of the average American to buy peanuts, gum, or some similar confection from a vending machine.

Somewhere near a million dollars a day, mostly in pennies, is pushed through narrow slots into vending machines. The machine which vends its wares for one cent will inevitably take in larger receipts than a machine operated by a nickel or a dime, or some larger coin.

There is a slot machine to every ten in the United States and the ratio may be even smaller, according to manufacturers. More than a dozen operating companies count receipts of upwards of half a million dollars a year.

The largest single operator is believed to be William Writley who recently purchased the machines in the New York subway, where approximately 10,000 are maintained. The Pulver gum company, the Chicago Rapid Transit company, the D. M. C. company of Los Angeles, and James Atkinson of Chicago, are the large operators.

The average receipts of a vending machine are $3 a month, though some strings average $5 and other smaller groups as high as $15.

Of a hundred or more vending devices, the newest is a radio whose dials are released on insertion of a nickel permitting the listener to tune in for several minutes on any station he wishes to hear.

The end of the lunch basket is foreseen by manufacturers in the perfection of new types of vending machines. They predict sandwich pie and coffee vending devices will be in every office and factory presently, so that the worker may get a hotter, fresher lunch than he can bring from home.

Paris and Longview Battle Fourteen Innings In a Tie Game

Schillings Has Better End of Great Pitching Duel With Lefty Craig

The three hundred or more customers who flocked out to the ball park yesterday afternoon were rewarded with a wonderful game. The Bears and the Cannibals battled fourteen hectic innings with no decision, the game being called in the fourteenth round with the score tied at 2 and 2.

It was a pitching duel between Lefty Craig and Lefty Schillings, regarded as the premier southpaw of the East Texas league. Schillings was endeavoring to get a secure place on the Bear payroll and to establish the many doubters that he had come back. Both were in terrific form, but the Bear pitcher had the best of the argument, as he allowed only six hits in the fourteen rounds, while the Cannibals were touching Craig for an equal dozen.

It was a truly great exhibition of pitching that Schillings put on for the edification of the fans, and one that will take rank with that great classic of years gone by when Lefty Hill and McDonald fought the memorable sixteen-round 1 to 0 game. From the sixth to the fourteenth Schillings did not allow a run and was never in serious trouble. He allowed only three hits in the last eight rounds, one of these a bunt, the other two being out.

Spectacular fielding and Craig too, was going great. A sterling left hander matched Schillings as far as keeping the plate clean, but the Bears' catcher, who was in every inning, could not move a score across. Behind the excellent pitching of the two moundsmen there were many sparkling fielding stunts, with the players making great catches for the home club. Schillings went high into the air to snag a line drive that was labeled for the fence, while Gallejos, in the seventh, made a wonderful catch of a line drive that was headed for a catch that robbed that young man of a probable triple. The ball was hit on a line with terrific force, but the Wallpaper, with a great leap, snatched the ball right off the boards.

Among other freak plays that came up a basel, there was one for the book in yesterday's game, in which the catcher and pitcher both hit an assist in a strike out. In the seventh, Stone was up and struck out, the ball bounding out of Birch's mitt and was fielded by Craig, who threw the runner out at first. It is believed this is the first time in the history of baseball that a play like that has been recorded.

The Cannibals got in front yesterday when they scored a run in the first. With a single, King, Schillings tried to work the hard hitting kid into going after bad ones. McMahon, next up, hit to left and King scored. Moore being thrown out at third.

In the sixth King, first up, waited for four bad ones, stole second and scored on Moore's single to right. McMahon also walked in this round, but White popped out to Stagner. Stagner's snap throw caught Moore off third and Boyd struck out to end the inning. That was the end of the scoring operations for the Cannibals, as from that time on Schillings was practically unhittable, and seemed to get better with each succeeding inning. The big red-head wound up a real pitching exhibition by whiffing Boyd for the third out in the eighth.

SPORTS HALL OF FAME

ERIC PEDLEY

ERIC PEDLEY

Nominating ERIC PEDLEY
Because this young polo star who came out of the West two years ago to be a sensation in international field hockey is ready to blazon a trail across the horizon again when the Meadowbrook games are held this summer.

Because for the second time he is a member of the crack Pacific coast four, which having won the honors on the sunset side of the county, are planning their second invasion of the east in quest of the national championship.

Because Pedley helped the same four (Carleton Burke, Arthur Perkins and Ted Miller are the other three) win the junior and national championships two years ago.

Because that showing won him a place on the Meadowbrook team along with such old warriors as Devereaux Milburn, Webb and others.

April left him as one of the outstanding figures of the games with the British four.

And because he represents the new generation in polo—the men who are destined to take their place in the sun in the next few years.

Paris Scores in Second

The Bears scored in the second after two had been scored. Stagner cracked a clean double to left and Jimmie Battle came through with a timely knock to center that scored "Old Reliable."

The Bears knotted the count in the seventh at 2 all. Lowrance, coming in in this round shot a line single to center and Hannegan hit to right. Stagner hit over-center, Lowrance scoring, but Hannegan trying to stretch an extra base was thrown out at third on a perfect throw by King.

Scholz doubled in the eighth after two were out, but Gallejos went out, Craig to McMahon. Stagner got on base in the ninth as the result of an error by White, and there were two out at the time and he was left stranded.

In the tenth, Stone led off with a single into left, and Schillings laid down a sacrifice, but Sowers and Scholz were unable to advance him.

In the eleventh the best opportunity of the day was wasted when with two out Hannegan drove a vicious single to center and Stagner singled, Battle then backed Dackery up against the right field fence to get his long skyscraper.

Again in the twelfth Stone led off with a single and Schillings laid down a sacrifice, Sowers drove a walk, and hopes rose high, but Sowers was forced by Scholz. Scholz's fielding his hard hit ball on the grass and Gallejos skied out.

The Bears made a desperate struggle in the thirteenth when Lowrance led off with a single to left, Hannegan struck out, but Stagner drove out what looked like a double to right center. Lowrance, playing the game right, nearly to second when the ball was caught by Dockery after a hard run, and Lowrance was doubled.

Lowrance made the right play, as he had the ball gone safe he would have scored the winning run.

It was a great ball game and one that will keep the bugs in the fannies of many fans to come. Schillings is entitled to praise for his really great pitching.

The Bears leave today for Texarkana, where they help the Texans open the season. Following the games at Texarkana the club goes to Longview, thence to Greenville and back home with Red Snapp's Marshall club as guests.

INTERVIEWS FIRST FOUND FAVOR DURING CIVIL WAR

Washington.—The collection and distribution of news is one of the most ancient occupations, but one phase of news gathering, the interview, is of comparatively modern American origin.

Interviewing, in the form in which it is known today, appears to have originated in Washington about the time of the civil war, when there was a great demand for news bearing on the internal situation.

The reading public, always with a ready appetite for personalities, received this style of reporting with so much favor that a few years later President Andrew Johnson was credited with expressing:

ing a preference to giving an interview to sending a message to congress, for "everybody seemed to read the interview and nobody seemed to read the messages."

One of the earliest of these interviewers was "Mack," the correspondent for the Cincinnati Commercial, says Harper's Magazine, January 1874. His first interview was with Alexander H. Stephens and the result of a two-days' visit to the latter's residence in Georgia during the summer of 1867.

During the ensuing winter the impeachment project was reviewed in Washington, and "Mack" applied the interviewing process to Andrew Johnson.

The matter discussed was nearly always the pending impeachment;
the manner was that of quiet talk, each party asking and answering questions in turn. Neither pencil nor note-book was introduced during the conversation, but "Mack" always asked the president if he was willing that the result of the conversation should go into print and if there was anything he desired to have omitted. The president's desires in this connection were always scrupulously regat-ed.

More than once the chief executive sent his secretary to request
"Mack" to meet him, preferring this to sending a message to congress.

Dr. Russell, of the London Times, in a book covering his visit to the United States, gives the following account of one of the early attempts at interviewing under date of Washington, March 28, 1861:

"On returning to Willard's Hotel
I was accosted by a gentleman who came out from the crowd in front of the office. 'Sir,' he said, you have been dining with our president tonight? I bowed. 'Was it an agreeable party?' said he,
'and what do you think of Mr.
Lincoln?' 'May I ask to whom I have the honor of speaking?' My name is Mr. ———, and I am the correspondent of the New York
———. 'Then, sir,' I replied, 'it gives me satisfaction to tell you that I think a good deal of Mr.
Lincoln, and that I am equally pleased with the dinner. I have the honor to wish you good evening.'"

PETER'S ADVENTURES ANIMAL LAND

Thirst—the Enemy!
"Water!" gasped Chacha. "I must have water or I shall choke."
At the Baboon's cry the fat little pig began to squeal at the top of his lungs and to beat at Chacha with his fat paws.

"I want a drink, too, Chacha!" Get me a drink!" Chacha gave the little pig's ear a slight cuff
"You make enough noise for two ning to feel dry."

"It's coming! It's coming!"
wailed Chacha, and rolled his head from side to side.

"What's coming? Tell me quick!"
Baboon was yelling so strangel.
"The terrible fate that over-takes those who journey in the jungle far from the cooling streams. 'Tis night now. Two-Legs and you say your mouth feels dry.
Just wait till the dawn break. The hot sun rains fire upon road. The flame will scorch lips till you cannot speak. Chacha, 'till then, you burn your eyes till you cannot hang in your mouth like a slice of bark; and that smooth skin of your, of which you are so proud—
'till it be smooth and white no longer." Hearing these things Peter shivered.

"It sounds dreadful!" cried the boy. But surely we don't need to wait for such a fate to overtake us. As you said, Chacha, 'till night. The moon is bright; the breeze is cool. Surely, there must be water somewhere, if only we know where to look for it. 'Wh-knows, if we keep up our courage and go search for a stream, we may find it and fool the fierdawn!"

"Smoken like a Baboon, Little Brother of the Band!" coughed Chacha. "Good for you. While there's life there's hope, and where there is a field of sugar cane there must be a running stream. I the water will not come to us and who can tell when it will rain legions to the rescue."

Next: "Water!" Whispers the Wind.

MONEY, WIVES OR EASE OF MIND HOLD OFF STARDOM

Hollywood, Cal. — Opportunity vainly harks a knuckle on the doors of some leading men of motion pictures these days.

For some of the leading men of the screen are beginning to try skeptical teeth on the glittering coin of stardom. They have found that it is not all gold that glitters. Warner Baxter, who supports the Daniels in her comedy features, signed a new three-year contract with Famous Players-Lasky. He insisted on a clause which forbids the producers making a star of him at any time or advertising him as a star.

It is a financial question, say those of stellar magnitude who agree with Baxter. A leading man supporting well known women stars is good for ten years in pictures. With relatively small increase in salary, the man who is started will average two or three years of popularity.

But it is also a question of the peace of mind with the producer the worry of choosing appropriate stories, proper casting and production. The step between cheering and jeers is a short one in motion pictures. It is pointed out, and a star's reputation built on numerous successes may be wrecked with one poorly chosen vehicle which flops.

Those who take the supporting roles say they can gracefully retire to minor parts of character acting while the star who loses popularity has little place left in pictures.

Wives also have played a part in one or two instances where stardom has been rejected as unwelcome. They fear to risk the strain on husbands' business which sometimes results from billboard publicity and the adoration of flapper film fans.

Women and Girls Weigh Problems at Y. W. C. A. Conclave

By Central Press.
Milwaukee, Wis. April 24.—Women and girls from all walks of life in America—2,500 of them—are meeting here and discussing the problems of modern woman at the ninth national convention of the Y. W. C. A. Girls from positions of great wealth and social prestige are eagerly debating with girls who since early childhood have earned a scant livelihood from all day toil over a whirling factory machine.

The immigration legislation, child labor amendment and its ratification by state legislatures and industrial legislation for women are a few of the matters under discussion. Our relation with the Orient, the question of disarmament and co-operation with the league of nations, the economic independence of women before and after marriage, and a change in the basis of membership are also being discussed.

Madame Alice Bertrand, an officer of the World's Committee of the Y. W. C. A., whose headquarters are in London and who is widely known throughout Europe as an international friend of women, and a far-seeing sponsor of

Among the prominent girls and women taking part in Y. W. C. A. convention at Milwaukee are, reading from left to right, above: Rachel Dunaway, University of Texas, president student assembly; Miss Isabel Dress, New York City, secretary business and professional women's assembly; Mrs. Geo. B. Ford, in charge of the "Forward Through the Ages," presented at convention; Lower row: Mrs. F. M. Paist, Philadelphia, president; Miss Alice Bertrand, Geneva, Switzerland, honor guest; Gertrude Lees, Dayton, O., chairman industrial assembly.

Their cause, is a guest of honor. Miss Charlotte Niven and Miss Irene Cox also journeyed from London to attend the convention. From South America came Miss Margaret Vesey, while from China and the Philippine Islands Miss Grace Yang, head of the National Student Council of China, and Miss Soledad Garduno of Manila, journeyed to the mid-western city. From Belgium, Miss Lucienne Levert and Miss Elena Ramirez of Mexico joined the delegates. Young women who have been doing Y. W. C. A. work in other countries are Miss Ruth Woods, small of Indianapolis, back from the Near East; Miss Margaret Strohn of Wheaton, Ill., from China; Miss Vesey of Fort Wayne, Ind., from South America; Miss Ruth Rule of Independence, Mo., from Bolivia; Miss Katherine Vaughn of Brooklyn, from China; Miss Eliza Cortez of Battle Creek, Mich., from South America; Miss Maude Klatt of Tripp, S. D., from China; Miss Mary Page of Berkeley, Cal., from Japan.

Mrs. Frederick M. Paist of Philadelphia, president, presides over 21 convention sessions. The other officers of the convention are Mrs. Chester C. Ashley of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Elizabeth Skinner of Dunedin, Fla., vice presidents; Mrs. Robert E. Speer, D. C., and Miss Lois Kugler of Boston, secretaries.

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr., is among the 150 women delegates from New York. Others in her party include Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president of national headquarters, Mrs. Arthur Curtis James, Mrs. James S. Cushman, Mrs. John Finley, Mrs. E. P. Townsend, Mrs. Henry Giespie Myers and Mrs. John French.

love isn't enough—I know that I can see how persons who really don't love each other can be contented in marriage. . . . Oh, there are so many things I can see now! Clay, you, too, must have a wholly different view of love and life and the important things than you had before you married me."

"I have. But, Eve, I know I love you."

"She gazed long and intently into his eyes before she replied: 'And if you didn't would you tell me so? Don't you feel as if you must tell me that you love me whether you do or not, just to—well, sort of make it easier for me?'"

"Yes, I would."

"I don't think so, Clay. We're all cowards in matters of sentiment."

"Well, what are we going to do?" There was both weariness and impatience in his tone.

Then she unfolded her plan.

Miss Johnstone seeks to ensnare Clay in her plot against John Ingate. See the next installment.

PRINTER TRYING CHRIST'S PRINCIPLES IN BUSINESS

SEATTLE.—The Golden Rule in a printing establishment may be comparatively new, but Clint W. Lee, Seattle specialty printer, believes he has proved it a success in the ten years he has operated under this system.

Twenty-four years ago, Lee started business on a small scale, assisted by a printer and a six dollar a week boy. Ten years ago he first began to share his profits with his son and with his pressman.

Since then, he has gradually developed his co-operative plan and last year distributed $4700 in profits among the 35 men and women on his payroll. Moreover, he has made money.

The Christian printer, as Lee is known in Seattle, said he has no cut and dried plan which can be applied in any business. His policy is the result of years of experiment in his own plant. He has seen fit to divide 30 per cent of the net income of the plant with his employees besides paying under wages or better and giving a week's vacation yearly with pay. His minimum wage for experienced girls is $20 a week and only two weeks so little as that.

Group life insurance on the employees is paid for entirely by the company and one-third of the cost of health and accident insurance. Every employee is given an opportunity to buy stock in the concern on easy terms.

One of the new human element features of Lee's policy is a 20-minute chapel service every Monday morning on the company's time. Lee, who was elected chaplain, starts the exercises at 8 o'clock with a prayer.
